Dog-walker says he is being hounded

Driver never left car while walking dog

A 12-year-old boy has been banned from the roads after being caught using his car to help his dog walk.

Rahim Khan, 12, was spotted by police on December 8 as he was driving his friend's dog along the road by a local school. He was stopped and a search was carried out, resulting in the car being impounded.

Borough Magistrates' Court sentenced Khan to community service and a fine of £100.

The court heard that Khan had walked his dog to a local park and then used the car to get there. He then left the dog in the car and went on to walk a few more dogs in the same manner.

The court noted that this was an unusual manner of walking dogs.

The boy had been watched by police who detected him using the car to help his dog walk.

The boy has been ordered to complete 20 hours of community service.
